SHOWS SIGNS OF BEING REASONABLE

Mustapha Kemal's Position Leads To Belief That Temporary Peace
Agreement Will Be Made

ARMISTICE IS DISCUSSED

Mudania Conference To Deal Only
With Military Questions—British Fleet Ready For Action

London, Oct. 3.—Mustapha Kemal is "conciliatory and shows signs of reasonableness," it was authoritatively stated here today.

Officials are hopeful that a temporary peace agreement will be reached at the Mudania conference between the allies and the Turks.

No word has been officially received from Mudania since the peace parley started.

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—A powerful British fleet, decks stripped for war, maneuvered at the Dardanelles today, as allies and Turks talked peace at Mudania.

Representatives of Mustapha Kemal and of the European powers met at 11 a. m., it was understood, in a preliminary Near East peace conference.

They discussed an armistice to prevent the threatened clash between British and Turks over the occupation of the neutral zone of the Dardanelles.

The Mudania conference will deal only with military questions. The political phases of the Near Eastern problem are to be worked out at a permanent peace conference which will be held about the middle of the month if an agreement is reached at Mudania.

These are the representatives who met to formulate the basis of peace in the Near East: Sir Charles Harington, British commander in chief; General
Chap, France; Ismet Pasha, Turkey;
General Mombelli Italy, and General
Mazarakis and Col. Harigiani, Greece.

All but the Greek representatives have arrived at Mudania. It was feared that the conference might be delayed because of the failure of the Greeks to reach there at the appointed time.

Turkish troops have withdrawn
from the neutral zone, pending today's conference.

The British were not the only warships steaming at the gates of the sea of Marmora, however. Rumania's interest in the straits was manifest with appearance early today of three Rumanian destroyers
at the Bosphorus.

HEALTH NURSE PUTS IN A BUSY MONTH

Miss Grace Ewing Makes Two Hundred
Visits During September,
According To Her Report

NATURE OF CASES VISITED

Two hundred visits were made during the month of September by Miss Grace Ewing, county Red Cross nurse, according to her summary of the month's work, in which an outline of her work in the county districts, exclusive of the city of Rushville is made.

Her report for the month shows that she made 80 home visits to school children, six visits that required nursing and care of patients, 24 visits to the schools, and 90 visits to tuberculosis, prenatal, infant welfare and miscellaneous cases.

Besides covering all this territory
with her visits, Miss Ewing also reports that during the month she took three afflicted children to a physician
two to the Robert Long in Indianapolis, and one child was taken to the orthopedic hospital for examination.
She also attended six children who

DEFINES POSITION OF GOVERNMENT

Secretary Of State Exchanges Telegrams With Bishop James Cannon In Paris

RELIES TO PLEA FOR HELP

Contains Clear Notice That United States Will Not Become Em-
broiled In Europe

By A. L. BRADFORD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 3.—The United States government has expressed the sentiment of the American people regarding the Near East situation, and will continue to express it by appropriate action, but will not be drawn into a Near East War.

This is the clearly defined position of this government, as set forth by Secretary of State Hughes in an exchange of cablegrams with Bishop James Cannon, who on reaching Paris
from Constantinople, cabled the state department urging that the United States use force if need be to prevent the killing of Near East Christians.

Secretary Hughes' reply to Bishop Cannon contained a clear notice that this government will refuse to be embroiled in a European quarrel, but will at the same time perform its humanitarian duty, as always.

Bishop Cannon, in his cablegram,
declared he believed "All Mighty God"
will hold the United States responsible for inaction while thousands were murdered and deported and for failing to protect them against the defiant, heartless and brutal Kemal-ist announcement that all refugees not evacuated by Saturday Sept. 30 would be deported, which means thousands more will be added to the dead."

The Bishop said he had been misquoted in regard to an early statement which gave the impression that he expected armed intervention by the United States. He did not expect such action, Bishop Cannon said.

In reply to the bishop's criticism,
Secretary Hughes last night sent this cable:

"In the present situation which has resulted from clash of arms, the defeat of the Greek forces, the incidents of the retreat and the reprisals effected, not only have we done all that is possible for relief and in aid of the refugees, but we have exerted in appropriate manner our influence against all acts of cruelty and oppression.

"On September 8, before the burning of Smyrna the American high

IN SESSION WEDNESDAY

Grand Jury Again Ordered to Report for a Brief Period

The grand jury was called into session today by the court, and they will hold forth again Wednesday in the court house, taking up probably several matters which have been directed to their attention since the last session was held during last week, when four indictments were returned. The nature of their probing tomorrow was not disclosed, but it is understood that only one day will be taken up at this time.

Bench warrants have been drawn for the arrest on the four indictments returned last Friday, and arrests on these charges may be expected at any time.

WARNS AGAINST MILD EPIDEMIC

City Board of Health Threatens to Prosecute if Further Violations
are Reported

DIPHTHERIA, SCARLET FEVER

Quarantine Laws Broken, Causing Spread of Diseases—Health
Statistics for Month

A mild epidemic of scarlet fever
and diphtheria is sweeping Rushville,
according to the board of health,
which issued a warning against violation of the quarantine laws, which is held responsible for the fact that the diseases are spreading.

The statistics for the month of September reveal that during the month 18 cases of contagion were reported, in which half were scarlet fever and the other half diphtheria,
and that one death was due to scarlet fever.

For the same month, there were only four deaths within the city, which is a low rate, and also for the month the records show that there were 12 births within the city.

The health board at a session held recently issued a statement concerning the violations of the quarantines which have been repeatedly broken by members of the families having the diseases.

The message from the city health
board today stated: "The City Health Board desires to announce that frequent violations of the quarantine laws have been reported, and this law must be enforced as there is now mild epidemic of diptheria and scarlet fever. We know that quarantine is not being observed carefully and if necessary, we will prosecute violations. As this action is done for the protection of the public, the families under quarantine must obey the rules."

A member of the board pointed out today that the reason for the spread of the disease is due to the fact that members of the family go out and associate with other people, quickly passing the disease to others, and making it hard to control.

The month of September, in other departments of the city and county offices, did not develop any unusual happenings. The fire department answered only four alarms, with practically no loss in the city. The greatest loss was a barn on the Cavitt farm, north of here, to which the local department responded. The department has made 44 runs this year.

In the county clerk's office, 12
marriage licenses and 41 hunting licenses were issued during September. Twenty-five civil suits were also filed during the month, of which five were for divorce.

Justice Stech had seven civil suits placed on file during the month, and 9 criminal cases docketed. Of the criminal cases, 5 paid fines, and 4
are to be arrested on charges pending.

TO HELP BUSINESS IS THE BIG ISSUE

Removal of Restrictions About It is Main Question Before Country,
Albert J. Beveridge Says

OPENS THE OHIO CAMPAIGN

Indiana Candidate for Senator Refers to Conflict in Governmental Theories at Columbus

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 3.—Removal of the restrictions on business, inherited from the Wilson regime, is the big question now before the country and involves the issue whether the whole American economic system shall be "developed or revolutionized," said Albert J. Beveridge, the Republican nominee for U.
S. senator from Indiana, in a speech here today opening the campaign in Ohio. Business was defined by Mr.
Beveridge as covering all industrial and commercial activities of all the people.

Prosperity rests with the removal
of these restrictions on business, said Mr. Beveridge, pointing out that the conflict in the theories regarding the government's relation to business centered on whether the governmental policy should be one of regulation or of interference. He cited the Wilsonian national tax system, and the operation of railroads, under the policies of the Wilson regime, to show the effects of the policy of interference, which, he said, opposed the fundamental American policy under which the country had been developed. The Republican party, opposing this policy of interference, has already begun to remove the restrictions, Mr. Beveridge said, adding that the work was yet incomplete, and in this connection he laid down a program for the future.

Mr. Beveridge's appearance here to open the Ohio campaign was at President Harding's personal request, a fact which the Indiana statesman said he regarded as "an especial honor." The President's request was sent to Mr. Beveridge at the suggestion of Republican leaders in Ohio, indicating that Mr.
Beveridge is regarded as a national figure. Mr. Beveridge's own regard for the President also was expressed in his speech when he said that "by the difficulties overcome, things

SALVATION ARMY LEADERS INVADE CITY

Come From Many Cities in Southern Indiana to Assist in Appeal for Winter Relief Funds

"TAG DAY" ON SATURDAY

A number of Salvation Army leaders from various cities in southern Indiana arrived in Rushville
this morning to lend their assistance in a house-to-house canvass of this city for funds to carry the Salvation Army work here through the winter.

This is Salvation Army week in Rushville and an appeal, headed by A. L. Riggs as general chairman, which will close with "Tag Day"
Saturday, is being made this week for $2,000. It is believed that the public will rally to the support of this organization.

The Army has been doing splendid work in this community for a number of years. It is an international organization and its flag of purity and mercy flutters over seventy-four countries and colonies throughout the world. During the war it kept company with the Red Cross, Y. M.
C. A. and K. of C in alleviating distress among soldiers.

"The Army is ever to be found in the front line trenches of more than ten thousand cities in the world," said a Salvationist today,
"fighting against sin and misery, clothing the naked, feeding the hungry, seeking the lost, changing despair into joy and mending broken human earthware."

MODERN HEALTH CRUSADE BEGUN

System of Training School Children in Good Health Habits Started by Red Cross Nurse

CONFINED TO RURAL SCHOOLS

Requirements of Crusade are Simply Performance of Health Chores
for Which Badges will be Given

A modern health crusade in the rural schools of Rush county is being launched by Miss Grace Ewing, county Red Cross Nurse, who is in charge of the work, and is distributing the necessary material to the school children. The modern health crusade is a system of training in good health habits, according to Miss Ewing, and its basis is practice and not mere precept. Under the plan, children do the duties explained in hygiene and physiology that are too often left undone.

According to Miss Ewing, millions of American school children have done the health chores of the Crusade within the last five years. The play and romance of the Crusade, its health chivalry, give children the incentive to work systematically and enthusiastically.

The results of Crusade work are physical and moral improvement and better attendance and deportment at school. The Crusade links the school and the home in health work.

The requirements of the crusade are simply the performance of the health chores; the the recording of the performance as directed and the award of chivalric titles, which consist of health certificates and badges.

The chore records which are to be kept in the schools are sent home to

STRIKE BREAKER IS RELEASED BY MAYOR

Railroad Non-union Shopman is Believed To Have Been Trapped by
C. I. & W. Trainman

WITH SMALL AMOUNT OF MULE

Fred Hendricks, non-union shop-man for the C. I. & W. railroad, who was placed in jail here Monday
at noon upon complaint of a trainman, who "tipped" the police off to the fact that Hendricks had some white mule, was released last night
after supper from jail, when Mayor Thomas recognized the fact that the entire affair was a "frame-up" by the trainmen.

Hendricks told Mayor Thomas
that on his way to Rushville Monday, a trainman gave him a bottle containing a few drinks of white mule, and insisted upon him taking it, although Hendricks told the man that he did not use it. The trainman insisted that he might find someone to give it to.

When the train arrived here, it is believed that the trainman called the police, and that he intentionally "planted" the liquor in an effort to cause the non-union repair worker
some trouble.

Depicting Activities of Greatest Industry in Rush County.SCRUB OAKS ARE BAD FOR CATTLE

Many Pastures in Indiana are Infested With Them, and Cattle Are Poisoned by Eating Leaves

PURDUE GIVES ADVICE

Cattle Seem to be More Susceptible Than Other Stock—Other Pasture Should be Given

There are many pastures in Indiana, particularly in the northern part of the state, that are thoroughly infested with scrub oaks. During drought or whenever a considerable portion of the pasture grasses die, grazing animals are apt to eat oak leaves in large quantities. This may result in sickness and death, due to tannic acid which is contained in large amounts in the oak leaves. Cattle seem to be more susceptible to tannic acid poisoning than horses, sheep or goats. Deaths from oak poisoning are of rather frequent occurrence on western grazing lands.

A case of this character was recently found by A. A. Hensen of the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department at Fair Oaks, Jasper County, Indiana on the farm of M. Rice. A cow became violently ill after grazing on a pasture where the only green vegetation was furnished by the large quantity of scrub oak present. It was readily seen by the condition of the leaves that the oaks had been grazed rather liberally. As soon as the affected animal was removed from the oak pasture and given dry feed, it recovered, but when placed back on the pasture, sickness resulted in a short time.

Just how prevalent oak poisoning is in Indiana is not known, but when animals become sick after grazing on land where scrub oak grows abundantly, it is well to give the victims a change of diet immediately. It has been demonstrated experimentally that when other feed is given in addition to oak leaves, the danger is not great. As small a quantity as 3 pounds of alfalfa hay fed daily together with an oak leaf ration has prevented poisoning.

Animals poisoned by oak leaves are apt to refuse feed, crave water, become emaciated and walk in a peculiar manner. A considerable quantity of oak leaves must be consumed for an extended period before the result is fatal. On pastures where feed is scarce and oaks grow fairly luxuriantly, the best preventive is to provide the animals with another source of feed until the grass has gotten a good start.

SEEKS AMENDMENT
OF FARM LOAN ACT

Farm Bureau is Beginning Drive to Have Federal Land Bank Act Changed to Increase Loans

IS NEEDED TO AID FARMERS

The Farm Bureau is beginning a drive to amend the Federal Land Bank Act so that the maximum of $10,000 for Federal Farm Loans may be abolished.

President J. R. Howard of the American Farm Bureau Federation points out that March 1, 1923, will be settlement day throughout the whole country on land deals. It will be remembered that five years ago many land purchases were made, so that March 1 next will hold the greatest opportunity for service which the Federal Land Banks have had. Since it requires about sixty days to secure action on a Federal Farm Loan application, it is contended that the legislation to be effective must be passed before January 1, 1923.

Farm Bureau members in every state will be asked to write to the American Farm Bureau Federation, 58 East Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois, urging the necessity, from our own personal standpoint, of increasing the Federal Farm Loan limit. This correspondence will be used as the basis of the campaign in Washington to secure the amendment to the Federal Land Bank Act.

CLEAN MILK CAN KILLS BACTERIA

Dairy Utensils Should Be Kept Sanitary In Order To Insure Good Product Free Of Germs

SHOULD BE DRIED GOOD

Dampness In Milk Containers Causes Small Organisms To Thrive. Experiments Have Revealed

Because bacteria increases in numbers at such an astounding rate when condition are favorable, it is necessary not only to kill as many of them as possible in order to keep dairy utensils clean and insure a good product; but utensils must be kept dry, so that the few organisms that are left after sterilization will not multiply greatly. In addition to the proper temperature it is necessary that moisture be present for these germs to grow, but only a very thin film of water is needed.

It is particularly important that milk cans be thoroughly dried and kept dry until used again, says the United States Department of Agriculture. In addition, they must be protected from contamination with dust, other dirt, and flies.

Experiments carried on by the department show that in milk cans which were covered before being dried the number of bacteria increased 700 times in 24 hours. Average of 7 tests showed that the count increased from 1,111,514 to 775,751,429. Milk put into cans in which the bacteria have been permitted to multiply to such an extent will spoil much sooner than put into cans before being covered.

To secure rapid drying the cans must be sterilized with steam or boiling water. If a sterilizer is used the cans may be left in it until time for them to be used again, but there must be some means of ventilation to carry off the moisture. Cans may be set on a rack to dry, but they should be protected from flies and dust, preferably in a well screened milk house.

Fourth Annual Session Is Held With Problems Of Raising Chickens Discussed

NOTED SPEAKERS ENGAGED

Lafayette Ind., Oct. 3.—Solution of the difficult problems of raising chickens were presented at the fourth annual meeting of the Indiana State Poultry association at Purdue University here today.

New members were registered this morning and this afternoon the meeting was opened with an address by Dr. L. P. Doyle, of the Purdue Veterinary department. He presented data on the result of testing flocks for bacillary white diarrhea which he said is the chief disease with which the farmers have to contend. C. W. Carrick, of the poultry department of the school presented results of two years experimental work in feeding chicks.

Certified hatcheries such as they have in California and Wisconsin which will hatch free from disease will be discussed at the supper conference tonight.

Tomorrow morning, Prof. A. G. Phillips, professor of poultry husbandry, will tell of his recent trip to California and compare poultry conditions there with those in Indiana. Egg markets methods will be presented in a discussion in the afternoon.

The conference will close Thursday morning.

ROTARY GOVERNOR VISITS RUSHVILLE

 planation of the dance and solos, pointing out the emphasis that was now being placed on American music. Both were most enthusiastically received.

Governor Hatfield discussed the problems of the local club with the directors at the 11 o'clock session and in his luncheon address, emphasized what Rotary should mean to every Rotarian. He stressed the importance of work among boys, and said that the best was a good example. He commended the Rushville club for its interest in boys and the back-to-school movement.

Mr. Hatfield was given the closest attention when he addressed the high school for twenty minutes placing importance on the value of education. He showed how much more life was worth, not alone financially, but in all other respects, when aided by a good education.

The visit of the district was the first of a series of eight which he will make among the clubs of group six between now and Friday night. He will be accompanied on the visits by Will O. Feudner of this city, group leader.

Workmen At Katsaros Building Discover It Being Used For A Walk

Workmen doing some excavating on the premises in East Third street, which is owned by Mike Katsaros, and on which a theater is being built, this morning dug into a grave marker, which was taken up, and cleaned off. The tombstone contained the name of Amanda Sanders, wife of John W. Sanders, who died in 1873. The deceased was 23 ears old, according to the inscription.

It is not known how the monument ever reached that location, and when it was dug up, the reverse side was being used as a part of a walk around the building.

A SURE GUIDE:—Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass. Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him.—Psalm 37: 5, 7.

Not Tempting to Workers

The plea of working men that they be permitted to own a share in the business is one that has long since been granted by most large corporations, in fact by all corporations whose stocks are sold in the open market. Some of the large corporations offer special inducements to encourage their workmen to take shares in the business, setting aside a certain number of shares to be sold to workmen at a price lower than quoted in the open market.

The fact is that many of the shares of large corporations are not a very tempting investment, particularly railroads. For example, reference to the daily stock market reports will show that the following roads are paying on dividends whatever: New York, New Haven and Hartford; Chicago & Alton; Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; Erie, Gulf, Mobile & Northern; Missouri, Kansas & Texas; Missouri Pacific; Peoria & Eastern; St. Louis & San Francisco; St. Louis Southwestern; Seaboard Air Line; Southern Railway; Texas & Pacific; Wabash; Western Maryland; Western Pacific.

Those are some of the well known roads that do a lot of business but are paying no dividends on their stocks. According to the same source of information, the Baltimore & Ohio pays no dividends on common stock and only 4 percent on preferred; the Pennsylvania pays only 4 percent but hopes to pay 6 percent soon. Illinois Central pays 7 percent, Southern Pacific 6 percent, Northern Pacific 5 percent; Norfolk & Western 7 percent, Great Northern preferred 7 percent, Chesapeake & Ohio 4 percent; Union Pacific 10 percent; and the Chicago & Northwestern 5 percent.

It is evident from this list that where there is a good location and good management, the roads pay a fair to good rate of dividend, but probably half of the mileage of the country is paying no dividends whatever, or less than could be secured by deposit at any savings bank.

If, therefore, men contemplated investing in the stocks of the roads on which they work, there would be, on the average, not much encouragement. If they had invested several years ago, it is quite likely that in the depressing period of Government operation, and immediately after, the men would have lost confidence in the stocks, in view of the low market value, and would have sold out.

It is highly desirable that workmen own an interest in the concern, but their is no way of compelling them to acquire an interest or to keep that interest if acquired either by gift or purchase.

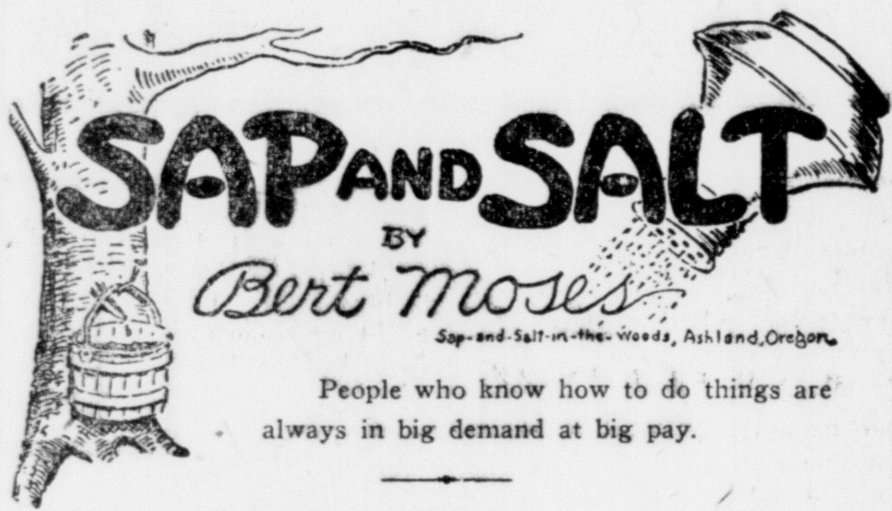

BARBERSHOP DATE COLORADO'S LATEST

(By United Press)

Durango, Colo., Oct. 3.—The "barber shop date" has made its appearance in Southwestern Colorado. Bobbed hair is the cause, according to local barbers.

It's no unusual occurrence for a young man to treat his lady fair to a "bob" or trim, while he reclines in the next chair to be shaved, massaged or shampooed.

Barbers declare that several couples make it a point to meet at the barber shop for dates. Or else after a rendezvous at some soft drink parlor, they stroll over to the shop for a hair trim and keep up conversation while the barbers do the work.

the parents when the crusade is started in the school, in order that they may become familiar with the health program and help the children in every way possible. The health records contain the following health rules, which have to be observed and properly checked:

1. I washed my hands before each meal. I cleaned my fingernails today.
 2. I brushed my teeth after breakfast and the evening meal.
 3. I carried a handkerchief and used it to protect others if I coughed or sneezed.
 4. I tried to avoid accidents to others and myself. I looked both ways when crossing the street (road).
 5. I drank four glasses of water but no tea, coffee nor any harmful drink.
 6. I had three wholesome meals including a nourishing breakfast. I drank milk.
 7. I ate some cereal or bread, green (watery) vegetable and fruit, but ate no candy nor "sweets" unless at the end of a meal.
 8. I went to toilet at my regular time.
 9. I tried to sit and to stand straight.
 10. I was in bed eleven hours last night, windows open. (varied for different grades).
 11. I had a complete bath and rubbed myself dry on each day of the week checked (x).
- The crusade was started in eleven of the county schools during September. On the first visit to the schools, Miss Ewing weighed and measured the children and distributed the proper health material. Miss Shepard, director of the Modern Health Crusade in Indiana, visited in Rush county three days, September 25, 26 and 27, and while here visited several of the schools with Miss Ewing and was very well pleased with the manner in which the crusade was being started.

Miss Shepard attended a meeting of the Farmers' association at Mays on September 26 and briefly explained her work to the parents and teachers. James G. Miller, county attendance officer, and W. E. Wagner, county school superintendent, were also on the program at Mays and discussed better attendance and other school problems.

Miss Ewing also spoke on the local health problems and the value of hygiene in the schools. She explained hygiene as a science of most practical value, having as its objects the conservation and improvement of man's health and the lengthening of life.

Miss Ewing stated: "In studying health we learn that it is the main factor in individual and social efficiency. Hygiene should be placed as the foremost subject in our school curriculum. Reading and writing are accomplishments of our schools and are well worth while, but have a doubtful value unless first of all the pupils are laying a basis of good health. Through the crusade movement, it is hoped that permanent health habits will be formed by the school pupils."

FRANK WHITTON

FOUNDER OF THE ARMY EULOGIZED

Envoy E. Pauline Swartz Pays Tribute to Life Work of William Booth for Humanity

SPEAKS AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Reviews Accomplishments of Salvation Army and Explains How it Aids The Unfortunates

Envoy E. Pauline Swartz closed her campaign here Monday night in the interest of the Salvation Army drive, when she delivered an address before a good sized audience at the Main Street Christian church, talking on the subject, "William Booth and The Salvation Army."

Her address was preceded by a musical program and following her talk, Capt. Samsel responded for the local Salvation Army.

Envoy Swartz in her address dwelt upon the life of William Booth, the beloved founder of the Salvation Army, who was born in England in 1829, and described his lifetime work of preaching to the unfortunate people, and in taking care of those who needed attention.

She told of the rapid development of the Salvation Army work, which was not given the name of the Salvation Army until 1878. The order was established first in London, she stated, and that this city today has the largest crop of workers, and is far more organized along more numerous lines of work, than any other city, which is due to the fact that the birth of the Salvation Army took place in that city.

Envoy Swartz told of the branches of work which are necessary in London, where 1500 members of the organization are at work at the various citidels and houses of refuge for the needy. These branches include a home for the so termed, hopeless men; home for the aged and infirm people; for cripples, both grown-up and children; homes for the working girls, and homes for the unfortunate girls who have sinned. There is even other kind of a place maintained in London, she stated, in which men who work, and receive meager wages, can receive board and lodging at the smallest possible cost.

She emphasized the fact that the steady growth of the Salvation Army was due to the efforts of William Booth, who began his career in the crowded districts of London, speaking to throngs from a soap box. She pointed out that the soap box was not large enough nowadays to accommodate the workers, and that the messages of Christianity are being directed through many channels. The street services are still maintained in almost every city, she stated, and the custom of tossing coins on the bass drum is also followed as one of the means of bringing in the needed revenue to meet the requirements in their various departments.

Envoy Swartz in reviewing the work accomplished in countries, and speaking of her experiences in foreign lands, as well as during the World War, stated that no matter where the flag of the Salvation Army is unfurled, the work is conducted along practically the same lines of social and spiritual welfare.

She pointed out that the Salvation Army today is established in 73 countries on the globe, all of them performing the same service for humanity.

In closing her address, she paid a glowing tribute to General Booth, the founder of the organization, and Roy Scanlon of Connersville, accused of being drunk, following the arrest of three others from that city last Saturday night, was still in jail today awaiting his trial which is set for Thursday night. Howard Clark paid his fine in court yesterday and Elmer Smith also was released in the afternoon, when someone paid his fine. The fourth person, William DeHart, was released this morning, when money to pay his fine was telegraphed from that city.

Scanlon, who will stand trial, maintains that he was not drunk, and that he was not in company with the other members of the party, two of whom are said to have escaped from the officers.

THE PEOPLES LOAN & TRUST COMPANY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 3—Enlarging the scope of athletics among school boys through the activities of various Public Schools Athletic Leagues is generally hailed as a step in the right direction to improve the physical condition of the next generation.

Jimmy De Forest, one of America's greatest trainers, who has conditioned some of the most famous athletes of the last decade, thinks it is a very grievous mistake.

"Unless the games are scheduled under the most expert supervision, more harm than good is done to school boy athletes", he says. "Any little fellow with red blood hates to be beaten. He will go into a sixty yard dash and unless he knows the proper form of sprinting he runs the risk of working permanent damage to his heart by putting everything he has into the effort.

"Another great mistake is made in putting boys into training before they have matured. No athlete under the age of seventeen should be permitted to go into training for any strenuous sport like rowing, long distance running or hurdling. They may not show the effects of the strain for years but eventually it is bound to come out."

Many mistakes are made in the training of boxers, according to De Forest.

"One of the most common errors has to do with roadwork," he says. "Many trainers recommend a run of four or five miles on the road to develop the wind and strengthen the legs. No one should ever do more than three miles and it should be done by mixing a fast sprint with a brisk walk of the same distance in alternation.

"A boxer doing road work should sprint hard for the distance of three poles and then settle down to a brisk walk for the next three poles and then strike into another sprint. In this manner the heart is not overtaxed and at the end of three miles, the athlete will return refreshed instead of exhausted."

De Forest trained Dempsey for most of his big fights. He didn't handle the champion when he was getting ready for Carpentier but Dempsey trained himself along the same system that De Forest taught him in Toledo.

Some sharps say that Dempsey didn't need any training for the Frenchman and that Carpentier's preparation merely consisted of teaching his shoulder to get up around his jaw.

So many boxers are coming to America from Europe and Australia claiming to be champions, that the New York State Commission has recognized the following as legitimate title holders:

Champions of Europe

Heavyweight, Georges Carpentier, France.

Light Heavyweight, G. Carpentier, France.

Middleweight, Kid Lewis, England.

Welterweight, No Incumbent.

Lightweight, Seamon Hall, England.

AMERICA COMES TO PARTING OF WAYS

By HERBERT W. WALKER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Oct. 3—America has come to the parting of the ways and must decide now whether to "co-operate in the counsels of the mother country and the old world, or stand aside and add to our national stock of gold", Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Company declared in an address to the American Bankers' Association convention here today.

The United States, he declared, is entering a new business cycle with "clearing skies and fair weather." The nation has gained great power, he said, and "with it goes weighty responsibility." During the world war this responsibility was discharged "a thousand fold" but since the armistice there is doubt about it.

"Now we have, it would seem, come to the parting of the ways, he said. "Shall we meet the responsibility that has come to us with power, or shall we fail?"

Lamont's speech was heard by a huge gathering of delegates representing the nation's banking machinery, assembled for the first session of the convention at which they plan to formulate policies on what action America should take with regard to forgiving Europe's debts, taking a hand in the European financial tangle, and other grave problems.

Points made by Lamont in his speech included:

1—America has passed through a cycle of flattening of prices "with business on its prices with business on its back and now business has bound up its bruises and is slowly moving on to a new goal".

2—Business still has some hurdles to jump including low prices prevailing for farm products but I never knew any country to go broke because of its abundant crops, so even though our farmers suffer disappointment I think the low price hurdle is the easiest one to jump."

3—With regard to labor, employers have a responsibility to "study more fully than we do today the conditions of labor and be sure that, by and large, every competent worker has an interval in the drudgery of work for enjoyment of life."

4—Concerning the tariff bill, "we shall be fortunate indeed if we do not find that in practice it protects a lot of industries that do not require protection, and cuts off from our farmers and manufacturers a lot of foreign markets that are ready to buy our commodities."

5—Europe, although politically "in the doldrums or worse" economically is on the mend. The people of Europe are saving money.

The inter-allied debt problem, Lamont said, is of paramount importance. Europe owes America $10,150,154,196. The first half of this debt was contracted between the time the United States declared war and the time American soldiers first entered the trenches.

You're Paying Here for What Goes In Here

THINK of both ends of the gas line when you are tempted to save (?) money at the filling point.

The tank doesn't care what you put into it, but the motor has a big say-so at the other end of the line.

It's there at the power end that you pay for indifference to quality at filling time. It's there that free carbon gets in its deadly work on valves and rings. It's there that raw kerosene from poorly made fuel drips down and despoils your oil.

These and more are the certain guide posts that mark the straight road from cheapened filling to premature motor repair.

The breath-holding delays and churning of poor starting—the continuous misses and semi-misses of broken explosions—the necessity of maintaining a constantly over-rich mixture for ordinary running—these only begin the catalog of poor fuel's minor costs and unpleasantness.

SILVER FLASH GASOLINE—that's a different story. A somewhat higher first cost, legitimately based on better materials, brings you real gasoline of old-fashioned, straight-run goodness.

Kerosene, free carbon, slow starting, reluctant running are strangers to its nature.

It thumps no bumpy path to early repair but delivers mile after mile, season after season, of comfortable running and long-time motor health.

CRIME WAVE IS SWEEPING MEXICO

French Apaches Make Nightly Visits To Mexico City And Secure Much Loot In Robbing

HAVE POLICE BAFFLED

Women Are Their Assistants In Many Raids Which They Make On Wine-Halls And Card Parties

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, Mexico, Oct. 3—A crime wave is sweeping Mexico City. The French "Apaches" have invaded the city.

More sensational to Mexico City than anything since the day of the famous "grey automobile," which became the dread of the capital, is the wave of crime and robbery spread over the city by the "Apaches" who have come in numbers. These denizens of the dives of the Montmarre are by their "cocottes," their painted partners of the underworld, who bring the prey into their hands.

Daring and vicious and with unending cunning and luck, the "Apaches" have outwitted the police and have continued their nightly depredations, taking the city by storm.

The women, artists of artists in feminine wiles and makeup, ply the main thoroughfares and frequent the night cafes. The Mexican youth of means delights in a "good time" and the dazzling French girls enveigle these quick companions to elegant apartments when after a period of drinking the "Apaches" appear and fall on their prey. Americans, too, have been lead to these apartments only to become the prey of the "Apaches."

The "Apaches" also make nightly patrols of the streets in automobiles and have frequent pistol battles with the police.

The "Apaches" have become the talk of the city and of the newspapers. Following up as closely as possible their nightly mauling, one paper carries a daily story of their work which covers a multitude of crimes.

Following the example of the "Apaches" scores of young Mexicans have started a campaign of robbery.

These nocturnal prowlers, with the blood of the Indian armed with knife and pistol, without the finesse of the "Apache", have killed and wounded more than the notorious French crooks. They work singly or in pairs and recently they have formed cliques which have become the bane of the gendarmerie. In one night recently seven bodies were found in different sections of the city, each with stab wounds. Many of these "cocottes," as they are known, find their living by stripping their victims of clothing. There have been many instances of victims being shoved into automobiles, carried to the city limits, stripped and abandoned.

But the "Cocottes" have not the ability to evade the police as has the of the police daily and are taken to "Apaches." They fall into the hands of prison to remain indefinitely. The famous prison of Belem at present has more than 1,500 prisoners.

AMUSEMENTS

At The Princess Today

The good little dwarf in the fairy tale episode of "Enchantment," a Cosmopolitan picturization of Frank R. Adams' story "Manhandling Ethel" starring Marion Davies, which comes to the Princess theatre again today, had a sorry task. The little man is only three and one-half feet tall, yet he wore a pair of boots that measured nine feet and weighed more than he did.

Those familiar with the fairy tales of their youth will remember the Seven-league boots that took their possessor across country at bird like speed. In the fairy tale episode of "Enchantment" the dwarf is the friend of the little princess who has come under the malign influence of a witch. He flies to the good fairy to tell her of the evil under which her ward has fallen after she is cast into a deep sleep.

In order that the little man could carry the boots, they were made with a sort of diminutive union suit inside. The dwarf donned the union suit and the boots at the same time, but so heavy was his task that it took three persons to get him into the unique foot gear. In the seven-league he flew through the air by means of a concealed wire and was a mighty tired little man when his job was over.

WORKS FOR CHILD MUST KEEP WELL

Mothers in a Like Situation Should Read This Letter from Mrs. Enrico

Chicago, Illinois. — "I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a serious trouble. I had tried doctors and all said the same—an operation. At first I only felt the pain on my left side, but later I seemed to feel it on both sides. I am a power sewing-machine operator and have a little girl to support. I work in a tailor shop and that line of work has been very slack this year and I am home part of the time. I do not like to take any chances, so I consulted my friends, and one lady said, 'Take Lydia Pinkham's medicine,' so I did. I have felt better right along and am in good enough health to go to work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash to all." — Mrs. MARY ENRICO, 459 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Illinois.

Often the mother is obliged to support her children and good health is necessary. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine you can depend upon. It is a medicine for women's ailments and the relief it brought Mrs. Enrico it may bring to you. Keep well by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

By U. G. KEENER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Rio De Janeiro (By Mail to U. P.)—There have been volumes written that the United States exporters are fast losing the position they obtained in South America during the war, but these volumes seemingly fail to relate the fact that the "Made in U. S. A." trademark is stamped deep on the massive works of construction underway in the Brazilian capital at present.

A visit to the international exposition to commemorate Brazil's independence centennial will impress persons with the lasting utility of made in U. S. A. products in Brazil. The Avenue of Nations, on either side of which are being completed the pavilions of the various countries to participate officially in Brazil's fair, is being laid by a street and roadway construction company of the United States, and one of the three architects whose plans for construction of the Welcome Arch at the entrance of the exposition grounds were accepted by the government, bears the stamp "Educated at Pennsylvania University."

One of the greatest works of engineering ever undertaken in Brazil—the raising of Castle Hill in the heart of Rio—offers another scene for the traveler seeking the "Made in U. S. A." stamp. This job is being rushed through under contract by a prominent firm of New York City. Huge granite rocks are being washed into Rio Bay, along with tons of red clay, by hydraulic guns that beat into the entrails of the great hill with a pressure of 250 pounds per square inch, breaking the rocks as though they were Humpty Dumpty's egg shell. These giant hydraulic guns bear the "Made in U. S. A." stamp.

Another part of the big hill is being blasted, the dirt and rocks are being dug away, placed in automatic dumping cars and hauled and deposited in Rio Bay. Dynamite for the blasting is being furnished by a prominent Delaware concern, steam shovels for digging the red earth from the hill and placing it into the railway cars bear the trademark of an Ohio factory, the automatic dumping cars, which come from a New Jersey town, are being drawn by new locomotives from Philadelphia.

Went Away And Left His "Sunday Eye" In The Hotel

Newark, N. J., Oct. 3.—An appeal to the Robert Treat Hotel to return his "every day" glass eye, which he had inadvertently left in his room there, brought John Mortimer Fortescue of Peoria, Ill., a sympathetic reply from the management. Fortescue explained in his note that he had been wearing his "Sunday best" eye ever since and felt "too dressed up" with it.

"Our lost and found department has cared for jewels, umbrellas, canes, brief cases, razors and things like that," wrote the manager, "but this is the first eye we have had the pleasure of handling."

"People seem to forget pajamas and nightgowns easier than anything else. If you know any body who has lost one you might refer him to our choice collection, plain, fancy and in all colors, waiting to be claimed."

done, and progress made the administration of President Harding is unequalled and unapproached during the same time by that of any other existing government."

"For us Americans, our duty and task at the present is 'to restore American business to full health and vigor,' declared Mr. Beveridge, who after defining business to include the activities of all the people, added that the foundation principles of prosperity were that capital must be permitted to flow as freely as possible in the channels of productive industry, and that transportation must be uninterrupted, ample, speedy and as inexpensive as possible.

"With these two foundation principles in mind," continued Mr. Beveridge, "we can know how to make right choice between the antagonistic theories of business and government now before the country—we can know what must be done in order to bring to all the people the good times to which all the people are entitled.

"One of these theories of business and government is that the industrial activities of all the people which we call business, should be as free as possible, controlled by economic law as much as possible and, therefore, restrained, restricted and 'regulated' by government as little as possible.

"The other theory of government and business is that the industrial activities of all the people which we call business, should be restrained, restricted and regulated by government as much as possible, and that therefore natural economic law should control production and exchange as little as possible.

"The first of these antagonistic theories of business and government is that held by the Republican party which believes that our present economic system, the outgrowth of ages, is fundamentally sound and that American institutions meet all human situations better than any existing or proposed plan of government.

"The second of these antagonistic theories of business and government is that held by a conglomeration of political elements a made up of the larger fragment of the Democratic party, socialistic organizations and extreme radicals who are convinced that our whole economic system is fundamentally wrong and that American institutions are antiquated and inadequate.

"Around these two theories are gathering forces for that ultimate conflict of which this campaign is the first skirmish; and that conflict will not end until the basic issue is decided as to whether our whole economic system shall be developed or revolutionized; and the collateral issue as to whether American institutions shall be maintained or wrecked.

"Here is the real issue—the profound and elemental issue—of the times.

"The sound principle of government regulation of nation wide business activities, is that exploitation of the people shall be prevented; but during the Wilson regime this sound principle of government regulation was extended to the point of governmental interference with the most minute details of transportation and trade, of production and exchange.

"Working on the theory that most business men are scoundrels at heart with no idea of serving the public, but intent only on robbing the public, the Wilson regime enacted restrictive laws, established meddling bureaus and commissions and did everything that anybody could think of to burden business and hamper commerce.

As an example of this type of prosperity-destroying legislation,

Mr. Beveridge referred to the Wilsonian national tax system driving capital out of productive industry.

"Unless confiscatory taxation drives one to invest in tax-exempt securities," said Mr. Beveridge, "he invests it in factories, mines, railways, mills, hotels, farms, newspapers, inventions, and the thousand forms of economic activity which constitute our industrial civilization. It is this investment of private capital that makes business active, healthy and vigorous—that creates prosperous markets and furnishes employment.

"So when the government stops this free flow of investing capital and takes for itself a large part of that capital merely because it is capital, the government necessarily checks business. For the government instead of using this confiscated wealth to run industries, pay wages and make profits, does nothing with that confiscated wealth except to pay the tremendous expenses of government.

"We Republicans, therefore, say that this Wilsonian theory must be abandoned if the American people are to be permitted to achieve for themselves that general prosperity to which they are entitled and which, even now, they would have in abundance but for the restrictive and oppressive business legislation of which these extortionate business taxes are one example."

CAR SENSE

Little defects grow into big ones in time if not corrected. The correction of a small defect in its early stages costs but little.

When left until it grows into serious proportions its correction runs into money.

That is what makes the maintenance of a car so expensive to many people—neglecting the little things they grow into big ones.
